FABULOUS FREEBIES

70 No-Cost Ways to Have Fun in Lexington and the Bluegrass

Who says you have to spend big bucks to have a good time? Not in Lexington and the Bluegrass Region. Here are great ways to have fun without paying admission.

1. Watch an early morning workout at Keeneland Race Course or the Red Mile Harness Track— or take a self-guided track tour. Keeneland: (859-254-3412 or 800-456-3412) The Red Mile: (859-255-0752)
2. Rev up your knowledge of a new kind of Kentucky horsepower at Toyota Motor Manufacturing Kentucky, Inc., in Georgetown, where Toyota automobiles and engines are made for the world market. (800-866-4485)
3. Explore the spirited Kentucky tradition of bourbon-making by touring Buffalo Trace, maker of Ancient Age (502-696-5926 or 800-654-8471), Four Roses (502-839-3436) or the Wild Turkey Bourbon distillery. (502-839-4544)
4. Snap a "photo finish" at Lexington's Thoroughbred Park, Main and Midland streets, where realistic, life-size bronze horse statues race and graze.
5. Thrill to our version of "Palisades Park"— the 734-acre Raven Run Nature Sanctuary, where hiking trails wind through meadows, woodlands and along streams in the scenic Kentucky River Palisades area. (859-272-6105)
6. Admire Old Masters, American and Kentucky masterpieces and some of the nation's best traveling art exhibits at the University of Kentucky Art Museum. (859-257-5716)
7. Take a memorable (and memorial) stroll through Lexington Cemetery, nationally recognized for its arboretum and gardens, and final resting place of Henry Clay, Confederate General John Hunt Morgan, basketball coach Adolph Rupp and other famous Lexingtonians. (859-255-5522)
8. Do some water-watching (and people-watching), day or night, in front of the cascading wall of fountains at downtown's Triangle Park, corner of Main and Broadway. Or stop at the unique fountains in front of the courthouses on North Limestone for more water wonders.
9. Sneak a peak through a special viewing window into Rupp Arena, home court of national basketball champs, the University of Kentucky Wildcats. (859-233-4567)
10. Explore the area at your own pace using the Lexington Walk and Bluegrass Country Driving Tour, available at the Convention and Visitors Bureau, 301 East Vine Street. (859-233-7299 or 800-845-3959)
11. Act like a kid again at one of Lexington's incredible Creative Playground structures, in Jacobson and Shillito parks. (859-288-2900)
12. Learn all about "Big Blue" traditions (in education and sports) with free guided tours Monday through

Friday at 9 a.m. and 1:15 p.m. of the Lexington campus of the University of Kentucky, Kentucky's largest university. (859-257-3595)

13. Visit Kentucky Derby winners and other famous equine residents of the Bluegrass at area horse farms; the Lexington Convention and Visitors Bureau can tell you which farms allow visitors. (No admission charge, but tipping is recommended.) (859-233-7299 or 800-845-3959)

14. Share the visions of Lexington artists at Loudoun House, 209 Castlewood Dr., the home of the Lexington Art League. The house, a Gothic villa built in 1852, is itself a work of art. (859-254-7024)

15. Stroll back in time in Gratz Park, Lexington's poshest neighborhood of the early 1800s and still a scenic and charming place to live. (North Mill and Market streets between Second and Third.)

16. Go to the source of Lexington, McConnell Springs, where in 1775, frontier explorers got word of the first battle of the American Revolution at Lexington, Massachusetts, and decided to name their campsite in its honor. On Rebman Lane, off Old Frankfort Pike. (859-225-4073)

17. Drive or bike along Old Frankfort Pike (1681), officially designated one of America's Scenic Byways.

18. Visit pampered superstars at a retirement home (for horses) at Old Friends, the only facility of its kind that accepts stallions. (502-863-1775)

19. Take a "plant walk across Kentucky" and view other gardens at the Arboretum, Alumni Drive in Lexington. (859-257-6955)

20. Promenade through a formal English parterre garden, or stroll grounds once walked by the "Great Compromiser" himself, Henry Clay, at Ashland, the Henry Clay Estate, 120 Sycamore Road in Lexington. (859-266-8581)

21. Jog or walk through Masterson Station Park, or follow the fitness trail at Shillito Park, both in Lexington. (859-288-2900)

22. Picnic where pioneer Daniel Boone once lived at Boone Station State Historic Site, Gentry Rd. (I-75 exit 104) near Athens.

23. Rub elbows with sheiks, movie stars and the horse set at horse sales at Keeneland and Fasig-Tipton. (But don't bid or you could spend millions!) Major sales in September, November and January. Keeneland: 859-254-3412; Fasig Tipton: 859-255-1555

24. Sample the sweets and see how candy is made at Old Kentucky Chocolates in Lexington. (800-786-0579)

25. See a pioneer cabin, outstanding Greek Revival architecture and a collection of early medical instruments — plus learn about a legendary curse — on the campus of Transylvania University, first college west of the Alleghenies. By appointment only. 300 North Broadway in Lexington. (859-233-8120)

26. Cast your line in the lake at Lexington's Jacobson Park off Richmond Road. (No charge to fish, but state fishing license required.) (859-288-2900)

27. Gawk at a real honest-to-goodness turreted castle, on US 60 (Versailles Road) west of Lexington. Drive-by viewing only. (If you really want a good look at it, it won't be free! It recently opened as CastlePost. Room rates run from $250 to $1,200!)

28. Extra! Extra! Read all about it! Groups can schedule a tour of the Lexington Herald-Leader newspaper plant at Main and Midland. (859-231-3100)

29. Ponder Lexington's Civil War-era history on the grounds of the Fayette County Courthouse, where you'll find Cheapside Park, site of one of the South's largest slave markets, and a statue of Confederate General John Hunt Morgan, who lived in Lexington.

30. Enjoy one of Lexington's most interesting interior views—a five-story atrium with the world's largest ceiling clock at the Lexington Public Library, 140 East Main Street. (The view of downtown out the upper floor windows isn't bad either.) (859-231-5500)

31. Sample the latest CDs on the private headsets, browse to your heart's content, ride the escalators, or relax by the fireplace at Joseph-Beth Booksellers, one of the region's largest bookstores— and one of Lexingtonians' favorite places to meet and mingle. The Mall at Lexington Green, Nicholasville Road. (859-273-2911)

32. The beautiful Romanesque stone building in the center of downtown Lexington is now home to the Lexington History Museum and the Lexington Public Safety Museum. Once the county courthouse, it now houses the city's newest attraction, and plans are underway for its complete restoration. Open seven days a week, but be sure to call first. (859-254-0530)

33. Need some quiet time? Lose yourself in the out-door labyrinth at the Old Episcopal Burying Ground, 3rd and Elm Tree Lane. Open 24 hours.

34. Enjoy the fruits of a lesser known Kentucky tradition: winemaking. Central Kentucky was the site of the very first commercial vineyard in the United States. Tour Talon Winery (859-971-3214), Equus Run (859-846-9463) or Chrisman Mill (859-881-5007).

35. Tour Kentucky's 1810 Beaux Arts style Capitol and see murals of historic figures, a collection of dolls dressed in replicas of Kentucky First Lady inaugural gowns, and, if your timing's right, Kentucky legislators in action. Groups of ten or more must make a reservation. 700 Capital Avenue, Frankfort. (502-564-3449)

36. Take in a panoramic view of Frankfort and the Capitol rotunda from the scenic overlook off US 60 west of downtown Frankfort.

37. Have a blooming good time at one of the nation's most unusual gardens, the Floral Clock on the lawn of the Capitol grounds in Frankfort. (502-564-3449)

38. Tour Kentucky's Governor's Mansion, modeled after Petit Trianon, Marie Antoinette's summer villa. Located next to the Capitol in Frankfort. Call for days and times. (502-564-3449)

39. Tour Kentucky's Old Governor's Mansion, built in 1798 and the oldest official executive residence in the United States until renovations began in 2003. 420 High Street, Frankfort. (502-564-3449)

40. Visit the gravesites of Kentucky pioneers Daniel and Rebecca Boone and other notables, overlooking the Kentucky River in Frankfort Cemetery. 215 East Main Street, Frankfort. (502-227-2403)

41. View military history in a more personal light at the Vietnam Veterans Memorial, a sundial memorial to Kentuckians killed in Vietnam. The point of the gnomon's shadow touches each veteran's name on the anniversary of his death. Coffee Tree Lane, Frankfort.

42. Are you game? Visit the fishing lakes and picnic areas of the Kentucky Department of Fish & Wildlife Game Farm (502-564-7863), off US 60 three miles west of Frankfort. Be sure to tour the on-site Salato Wildlife Education Center. (800-858-1549)

43. Visit the Vest-Lindsey house, a 19th-century Federal-style house and boyhood home of dog's best friend, U.S. Senator George Graham Vest, who coined the phrase "dog is man's best friend." 401 Wapping Street, Frankfort. (502-564-6980)

44. Visit the "birthplace of bourbon" and Kentucky's biggest spring at Royal Spring Park in downtown Georgetown. It's thought that Baptist minister Elijah Craig made the first batch of Kentucky bourbon here in 1789. The park includes a chainsaw sculpture of Craig. (502-863-6201)

45. Discover bridges to the past: Drive across one of Kentucky's 12 remaining covered bridges, the Colville Covered Bridge, on KY 3118 northwest of Millersburg. In Fleming County, northeast of Lexington, you can admire not just one, but three, lovely old covered bridges.

46. Thrill to Berry Hill Mansion, with its elaborate music room featuring a massive cathedral organ and intricately carved wood ornamentation. 700 Louisville Road, Frankfort. (502-564-3000)

47. Visit one of the region's largest art galleries, a Kentucky native plants arboretum and antebellum buildings on the campus of Georgetown College, oldest Baptist College west of the Alleghenies. (502-863-8009)

48-51. Sample local history and see all kinds of interesting stuff at the Georgetown & Scott County Museum (in the old Post Office on Main St., Georgetown, 502-863-6201); the Woodford County Historical Society Museum (121 Rose Hill, Versailles, 859-873-6786); the Cynthiana/Harrison County Museum (124 South Walnut Street, Cynthiana, 859-234-7179); and the Old Presbyterian Meeting House. 325 Main Street in Stanford (606-365-1216).

52. See one of the world's largest private collections of locks: The Harry C. Miller Lock Collection at the Lockmasters Education Center, 1014 South Main Street, Nicholasville, includes locks going back to the

1300s. (859-887-9633)

53. Ale-8-One, the soft drink unique to Kentucky, has been bottled in Winchester since 1926. Tour the plant on any Friday at 10:50 a.m. Call in advance. (859-744-3484)

54. Make your own pilgrimage to Old Cane Ridge Meeting House in Bourbon County, site of the famous Cane Ridge revival of 1801, when as many as 30,000 people assembled leading to the birth of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ). Donations appreciated. (859-987-5350)

55. Visit a big backyard you're sure to envy: The Nannine Clay Wallis Arboretum, 616 Pleasant Street, Paris, is a four-acre display of landscaping at the headquarters of the Garden Club of Kentucky. Donations appreciated. (859-987-6158 or 859-987-3643)

56. Wander amid woods, wildflowers and wildlife at the 100-acre Jim Beam Nature Preserve, off US 27 south of Nicholasville. (859-259-9655)

57. Honor veterans of the Civil War and other wars at Camp Nelson National Cemetery and Civil War site, off US 27 south of Nicholasville. (859-885-5727)

58. Escape the same old grind with a country drive to Weisenberger Mill, off Leestown Pike near Midway. There are no tours, but the original 1862 grindstone is on display out front, and across the road grindstones help create one of Central Kentucky's most unusual stone fences. (859-254-5282)

59. Stop by and visit for a while at America's oldest continuously operated country store, Penn's Store, on KY 243 near Gravel Switch in Boyle County. (859-332-7715)

60. Zip down to Danville to see the first post office west of the Alleghenies, plus replicas of an early meeting-house and jail at Constitution Square State Historic Site, 134 S. 2nd Street. (859-239-7089)

61. Take a walking tour of Carlisle and be charmed by more than 350 National Register buildings packed into one of Kentucky's smallest county seats. (859-289-5174)

62. Visit the house that Jack built—Jack Jouett, that is. He was a Revolutionary War hero who rode all night to save Thomas Jefferson from the British. The Jack Jouett House is on Craig's Creek Pike in Woodford County. Donations accepted. (859-873-7902)

63. Stroll down one of Kentucky's few intact 19th century commercial districts, along Main Street in Winchester. (859-744-0556)

64. Tour Berea College, founded in 1855 as the first school in the South dedicated to equal education for all races, and today dedicated to educating the youth of Kentucky's mountains. (859-985-3018)

65. Visit the Kentucky Artisan Center just outside Berea for wonderful overview of Kentucky's hand crafted heritage. (859-985-5448)

66 and 67. "Re-enact" a Civil War battle in your car. Pick up a driving tour map of the Battle of Richmond from the Richmond Visitor Center, 345 Lancaster Ave. (800-866-3705). A driving guide to the Battles of Cynthiana is available at 203 W. Pike Street, Cynthiana. (859-234-5236)

68. Call ahead and tour the kiln works at the oldest pottery company west of the Alleghenies, Bybee Pottery, KY 52 in Madison County. (859-369-5350)

69. Take a 210 year old short cut. Follow Tates Creek Road out of Lexington and you'll end up on the banks of the Kentucky River. If you want to go any further, you'll have to take the Valley View Ferry. The schedule can be affected by weather, so call ahead to make sure it's running. (859-258-3611)

70. Join in the fun of literally hundreds of free special events throughout the year, ranging from arts fairs and parades to harvest festivals and Christmas sing-alongs; contact the Lexington Convention and Visitors Bureau to find out what's going on while you're in town. (859-233-7299 or 800-845-3959.) Or take a trip to www.visitlex.com.
